PACT TO BE SIGNED BY BRITAIN, FRANCE AND TURKEY TODAY

Agreements Has Been Reached and Signatures Will Be Affixed at 5.30

EXPECT NEW 'RED' PACT

London Hopes That Russia Will Not Be Alienated By Agreement

By Robert G. Nixon
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Marking the first major victory for the allies since the war began, the British government officially announced today that a neutral assistance agreement embracing Great Britain, France and Turkey will be signed in Ankara at 5.30 p. m.

The British hope that it will be followed by some new Russo-Turkish agreement and cumulative effects of both pacts, expected to aid the allies in stemming Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's aggressive intentions.

Well-informed London circles expressed hope that Turkey, being signed up with the allies, will not alienate Soviet Russia. It's big hopes are borne out, the envisaged Russo-Turkish pact will not infringe the tripartite agreement, which Britain insists is not aimed against any power, particularly Soviet Russia.

It was pointed out in London that the Russians knew in advance the proposed terms of the Anglo-French-Turkish agreement, and knew of the willingness of Britain and France to make concessions on certain points, such as naval rights in the Black Sea.

There was a growing conviction in London that Premier Molotov of the U. S. S. R. advanced in his conversation.

Conference Report Heard; Pictures Shown To P. T. A.

HULMEVILLE, Oct. 19.—A report from the delegate to the sixth biennial conference of the Southeastern District, Pennsylvania P. T. A., motion pictures of game in the Canadian Rockies, and refreshments, interested all who attended the meeting of Hulmeville-Middletown Parent-Teacher Association, last evening. The session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Joseph Mucklow, in the school house, here.

Mrs. Mucklow, who was delegate to the Southeastern District conference in Reading last week, presented highlights of outstanding addresses, passed on suggestions for conducting P. T. A. meetings and outlining programs for such, and told of sight-seeing trips, the conference banquet, etc. Mrs. Albert Wunsch occupied the chair during the presidents presentation.

The motion pictures were shown by Cyrus E. Smith, with Kinbel Faust operating the machine. Mr. Smith, in addition to showing the colored films, told of his trek in big-game country in Western Canada, last July, when he took "shots" with the camera only, being guided in the journey by a Cree Indian and his wife, who were also accompanied by their 14-year-old son. Fine pictures of mountain goats, caribou, deer, ptarmigan, and also beautiful flowers on the rocky slopes, and panoramic scenes of snow-capped peaks, were enjoyed, as well as camp life scenes, the pack horses, etc.

The minutes and the treasurer's report were read by Mrs. William Wheeler and Samuel Brehaut, secretary and treasurer, respectively. Announcement was made of the school of instruction for P. T. A. members, at New Hope next Saturday, and three members signified intention of attending.

The organization decided to purchase oil-cloth for tables in the cafeteria. Mr. Hanes was named chairman of a card party committee, further plans for such being made in November. He was also named chairman for the year of the ways and means committee. The attendance banner was awarded to grades seven and eight. It was announced by Principal Frank Blander. The president called upon committee heads for usual reports.

Guests on this occasion were Mrs. Wheeler, and Mrs. Rex Hunter, president and program chairman, respectively, of East Bristol Township P. T. A.

Two Down in Tidal Wave

Ocean City, N. J., Oct. 19.—A tidal wave that stood their fishing launch on end as it crossed a bar, was blamed today for the drowning of Stewart Lindenmuth, 27, and John Dinger, 26, of Philadelphia. Bodies of both men were being sought by Coast Guard patrols.

Edward C. Mathues, 24, Philadelphia, owner of the launch, escaped his companions' fate because he was in a cabin when the wave hit. He told rescuers he heard Lindenmuth and Dinger shout, and looked up in time to see them swept overboard.

HULMEVILLE

Miss Marian Knudsen, St. Leonards, was a guest yesterday, and Mrs. Harvey Funk, Yardley, was entertained today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown.

Are Their Numbers Increasing?

(By "The Stroller")

A friend remarked to us the other day that beggars seem to be increasing in number in our fair borough.

"I noticed two in one day on Mill street," she added, which does seem like a large number for one short street.

Other residents tell us that they have such frequent calls from "knights of the road" seeking hand-outs. Mayhap the larger number of such travellers may mean they are en route to the New York fair, to add to the knowledge and culture secured in the travel which broadens every man!

Severe Landslide

Boston, Oct. 19.—A supposed under-seas earthquake or landslide somewhere off the North Atlantic coast today—so severe that it was felt in cities and towns of Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and the Quebec province of Canada—was recorded as far west as Cleveland.

The Atlantic Ocean quake or under-seas earthquake, started at 6.55 a. m., eastern standard time, and lasted several minutes, but did no damage except to shake homes with such force in the greater Boston area that windows rattled.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 19.—An earthquake of small intensity, probably not over 200 miles from Cleveland, was registered on the seismograph at John Carroll University today.

Rev. Father S. J. Jollat said the shocks started at 6.58 a. m., eastern standard time, and lasted nine minutes.

Although he was not positive, Father Jollat said, he believed the effects were felt west of Cleveland.

Cost of Probes

Harrisburg, Oct. 19.—Official Grand Jury investigation into the primary election charges against former Erie administration officials and the resultant two trials cost Dauphin County approximately $90,000, it was revealed today by County Comptroller J. Montgomery Trace.

Trace said that up to October 1, the state trials brought an expenditure of $89,853. He declared that none of the $100,000 appropriated by the Legislature to reimburse the county had been received.

The Grand Jury investigation and the trials of Roy E. Brownmiller, former highway secretary, sentenced to a year in jail, and fined $3,000 for alleged "misuse" of Department funds, and James P. Kirk, Allegheny County Democratic chairman, and Victor S. Skok, Kirk's insurance agency partner, convicted of conspiracy, cost the county $59,972.20, Trace reported.

MORRISVILLE CONTINUES WAR ON ILLEGAL PARKING

Seventy Tickets Are Issued By The Police To Offenders

SOME FINES COLLECTED

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 19.—This borough is waging a war against illegal parking with the expectation that traffic conditions will be greatly improved. Seventy warning tickets have been issued by the police department.

Common Council has since, however, provided 30-minute parking on the sections which formerly prohibited parking altogether.

Chief of Police Albert Cooper's report, for September, showed that the police car had traveled 2,615 miles during the month and had 109 radio calls. Two overloaded trucks netted $50 each in fines; for speeding, one was fined $5, one sent to jail; illegal parking, one fined $2, two discharged; disorderly conduct, three fined $5 each. Fines from Justice of the Peace Neal Nolan totaled $127. Three accidents and one robbery were investigated.

A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jennings, of South Pennsylvania avenue, was received by Common Council commending the police department on its fine work in recovering a cornet, owned by their son, stolen by a Trenton youth at a carnival. Officer James Walsh picked up the instrument a few minutes after it was reported stolen.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

Bucks County Chapter, D. A. R., met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Helen M. C. Barnes, at Yardley, when the subject of the program in charge of Mrs. William G. Herridge was "Witchcraft in the Colonies."

Mrs. Herridge said that witchcraft, which is believed to have been practiced in Egypt and Babylonia as early as 2000 B. C., is defined as an appeal for the intervention of the spirits of evil. It is referred to in Holy Scriptures in the Books of Deuteronomy and I. Kings, which may explain why the pious Cotton Mather and other clergy, in spite of their high intelligence, firmly believed that the devil walked the earth and brought certain people under his influence.

Interesting papers on the subject, obtained from the D. A. R. lending library in Washington were read by Mrs. Burgher and Mrs. Clymer. Although there is scoffing at witchcraft today, cases were cited which prove that in a small degree it is still credited.

Five members of the chapter, Mrs. J. Herman Barnsley, Mrs. Horace A. Effrig, and Mrs. F. J. Linton, of Newtown; Mrs. Warren S. Ely, of Doylestown, and Mrs. Frank M. Actor, of Elkins Park, left on Sunday by automobile for Erie, Pa., where the State conference is being held this week.

It was reported that about $80 worth of tickets were sold for the card party given by the chapter on September 22, in Jenkintown.

The Stalin Trap Idea

Washington, Oct. 18. THERE seems just a little too much disposition in this country to accept the view that Mr. Stalin has made a sap out of Mr. Hitler, that the latter has fallen into a Russian trap and that from now on the man really to fear is the Russian dictator and not the German. So strongly has this point been made that it has become heretical to dissent.

NEVERTHELESS, it does not seem borne out by the facts; and while it has been promulgated by some of our more flaming international authorities, to say nothing of cartoonists and commentators, it is not altogether shared MORRISVILLE, Oct. 19.—Three women, a young girl and a boy, 5, were injured yesterday when a truck loaded with concrete, a bus and a truck collided at a street intersection here.

According to Chief of Police Cooper, the truck, owned by the Warner Company, Morrisville, which was loaded with concrete and sand and driven by Arthur Flanagan, of 612 South Clinton avenue, Trenton, was proceeding toward Philadelphia, when it crashed into the side of a bus of the Richmond Bus Lines and operated by Nelson Margerum, of 6 Corless avenue, Morrisville. THE COW UPHELD

While in general mankind's liberties throughout the world are being curtailed by mankind, we find that the liberties of the animal kingdom are being supported in an encouraging manner.

A dog may have his bite according to recent court decisions—so may a pony or a camel. Now comes the news that a cow has the right to stand and stare if she feels like it, or even barge suddenly into the pathway of a motor vehicle providing she is properly claspered.

This most recent case of animal versus human came up before Lord Justice Sir Henry Slender of the British Court of Appeals. The motorist in the case complained that the cow stepped off the grass beside the road without giving him a chance to avoid her. A lower court had conceded the justice of his claim and allowed him damages. But Sir Henry over-ruled the decision and took the part of the cow.

The cow's case, he said, rested on the fact that from time immemorial cows had strayed along the road. This particular cow was in the care of a drover who maintained that it is impossible to read a cow's mind, or to guarantee that a cow will move in a straight line. Sometimes an animal by the roadside will simply stand and stare. Sometimes it will have a sudden inspiration to move which nobody can foresee or force.

Justice Slender decided that it would be impossible to prove negligence on the part of the cow's owner or of the drover in charge. Presumably no cow is supposed to learn its lesson from experience. Its privileges can hardly be confined to one collision. A really dumb cow might continue for years collecting broken ribs and the curses of motorists. Whether American judicial opinion will uphold the British court is a moot question. We hope so. As long as the rights of animals are upheld there is hope for the rights of man.

It would be interesting to know how the salaries of war censors compare with the average paid out in hush money.

It's hard to say just when white prestige went into a decline in the Orient. Maybe it was the poet's admission that Gunga Din was a better man.

The Great Game of Politics

Their sufferings are obviously mitigated by the thought that the brutal and licentious Hitler has merely been used as a cat's-paw by Stalin, who thus has obtained enormous concessions without the necessity of fighting for them. Hitler, the argument runs, had not the remotest notion when he invaded Poland of the trap in which he is caught and now lives in fear of Stalin without whose support he is lost. One Communistically inclined orator a few days ago asserted that Stalin is now in position to prolong the war by switching from side to side until Germany on the one hand and the Allies on the other reach a stage of chaotic exhaustion which will render a calculated Communist revolution easy and inevitable in both.

THAT is a sample of the kind of stuff which is now being peddled in this country. While it is extreme, it really is not illogical once the notion is accepted that Hitler innocently put himself at the mercy of Stalin, has been forced to give away the fruits of his Polish victory and is now unable to resist any Russian demand. That Russia profited greatly by the German conquest of Poland, of course, obvious. She got the part of that country for which she has long itched and which was once a part of Russia. And she has acquired ports in the Baltic and established herself as the "protector" of the little buffer states of Estonia and Latvia.

BUT that she is more than Hitler was willing to give as a price for Russian support or anything that he wanted himself, or anything that endangers himself, is an idea hard to sustain. For one thing, it assumes that Hitler is idiotic. Ruthless, vicious, unscrupulous he undoubtedly is, but no one has yet called him a fool. His course and conduct in the last two years have shown him destitute of honor and devoid of shame but not silly—and that is what he would have had to be to have, as is contended, walked into the Stalin trap. He may, as some assert, be demented, but he isn't an imbecile. His whole record negatives that view.

THERE is the further point that Stalin has seen the German Army in action; that he knows by close observation its force, efficiency and mechanized completeness; that he knows better than anyone else its immense superiority in equipment, training and discipline to his own Red Army, mostly commanded by raw boys who have taken the place of "liquidated" officers. It isn't reasonable to suppose that after witnessing the job the Germans did in Poland he would care to turn that German war machine against himself. It is much more reasonable to think that that spectacle inspired him with considerable respect and that the concessions he has obtained have solidified his alliance with Hitler in his fight against the democracies which Stalin hates and against which the Communist propaganda is primarily directed. At any rate, that is the way some usually well-informed people here feel about it.

POPULARITY OF BRAZIL NUTS IS MODERN HORATIO ALGER STORY

From the deep, dark jungles of Brazil, where "gathering nuts in May" is no simple task, to festive holiday tables all over the world—that's the romantic story of the Castanha de Para—Brazil nut, to you!

When it's raining in Brazil in the spring, you'll have choice nuts on your table in October! And the more it rains the better and more plentiful the Brazil nuts, for they grow in remote jungles where the only means of transportation are the tributaries of the mighty Amazon. When it rains heavily, the "castanheiros"—nut gatherers—can go further upstream and bring the choicest of the crop—transported in primitive dugout canoes to nearby landing points. Then Brazil nuts are ready to make their journey to your holiday nut bowl. Transported to seacoast ports by river boats the nuts are transferred to ocean steamers and rushed to the United States. They arrive throughout the summer—and are carefully stored in large piles—where skilled workmen turn them over so that each "castanha" will "cure" or ripen slowly and evenly to the desired state. Trained girls sort the nuts and only the perfect ones are shipped to retailers.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By CORA ANTHONY
Director of A&P Kitchen

MEATS and poultry are very reasonable and poultry prices may be considered low. Smoked hams are now showing the recent reduction in fresh pork prices and they are inexpensive this week. Fresh fish is more plentiful though some summer varieties are now unobtainable except in the frozen state. Egg prices are firm but are not expected to go much higher. Butter continues at its recent higher level. The cabbage family predominates in the vegetable market with cauliflower in the midst of its season, broccoli plentiful and inexpensive and Brussels sprouts available. Cabbage is higher and less plentiful than last year. Spinach also is abundant and cheap. Apples, grapefruit, bananas and oranges are staples at this season. The first Florida oranges are now arriving.

Onto Your Table

It's a far cry from Amazonian jungles to a modern Yankee Kitchen, but the nuts don't mind the change—if they go into October pudding. Compliments will be warm as toast when you serve Brazil and Ham Toasties—here's "crunchy munching" for any time. South American casserole is another brand new role, so try these, a new, tried and true Brazil nut recipe, and plan for a bumper crop of compliments!

October Pudding

2 eggs, well beaten
2/3 cup sweetened condensed milk
1 cup bread crumbs
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 pound pasteurized dates, chopped
1/2 cup Brazil nuts, chopped
Blend together eggs, sweetened condensed milk, bread crumbs, baking powder, chopped dates and chopped Brazil nuts. Place in top of double boiler and cook over boiling water for 45 minutes. Chill. Serve cold with whipped cream. Serves six.

Brazil and Ham Toasties
Trim thin slices of white bread to make 3-inch squares. Spread squares with deviled ham and sprinkle with chopped Brazil nuts. (Press nuts into ham.) Add, if desired, a slight sprinkling of grated onion. Bring together two opposite corners of the squares of bread. Fasten with toothpicks to form cornucopias. Brush outside of bread, lightly, with melted butter. Toast in broiler or hot oven. Serve hot with fruit juice or vegetable cocktail.

South American Casserole
2 tablespoons bacon fat
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon chopped celery
1/2 cup milk

Try Hollywood BREAD

1 cup canned pea soup (puree)
1 1/2 cups chopped Brazil nuts
1 egg, beaten
Pepper
1 teaspoon salt

The Russian Peasant is providing the latest inspiration to hostesses seeking amusing novelties for festive occasions. Gay wooden bowls and cups, painted red and gold in Muscovite style, are a new style in tableware that's being featured at budget prices. Typical Russian peasant treats provide a piquant flavor to the party menu without straining the budget. Pancakes spread with sour cream or tiny biscuits with meat stuffings are typical Muscovite treats that are scoring party successes. Serve them with plenty of decaffeinated coffee so everyone can enjoy extra helpings without worrying about their sleep. When you brew decaffeinated coffee, by the pot or percolator methods, a little extra time is needed to bring out the rich flavor; drip grind decaffeinated coffee is made just like ordinary coffee.

Russian Mocha

1 cup strong decaffeinated coffee
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
3 tablespoons sugar
Dash of salt
3 cups milk
Make decaffeinated coffee extra strength using 1 1/2 tablespoons for each cup, 1/2 pint water. Add chocolate to coffee in top of double boiler and place over low flame, stirring until chocolate is melted and blended. Add sugar and salt, and boil 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Place over boiling water. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly; then heat. When hot, beat with rotary egg beater until frothy. Cool. Pour over cracked ice. Or serve hot. Top with whipped cream, if desired. Serves four.

Russian Meat Patties

Roll short paste thin and cut in rounds with a large biscuit cutter. Prepare a filling of minced cooked beef, onion and hard boiled egg, seasoned with salt and pepper. The proportions usually given call for one pound of beef, two onions and three hard-boiled eggs. Place a little mound of this stuffing about the size of a walnut on each circle of pastry and pull the edges up in the center, pinching them firmly together. Brush the tops with yolks of egg and bake until brown in moderate oven.

Sometimes Russian patties are made from small round rolls, with the centers hollowed out. Soak them in milk mixed with eggs, as you would soak bread for French toast. Drain, dip in melted butter, and brown in the oven until they are crisp. Pile a spoonful of the hot stuffing in each of them and serve hot.

DAD'S BEEFSTEAK SANDWICH

1 cup cooked beefsteak, ground
1 hard cooked egg
4 medium sized sweet gherkins
Catsup
Put through food chopper the beefsteak, egg, and sweet gherkins. Add sufficient catsup to moisten. Spread between slices of buttered bread. Makes filling for six sandwiches.

Fuel Short-Weight Warning Issued

With the advent of cooler weather and the fears of a war-created shortage combining to make householders lay in unusually large supplies of fuel oil, Morton Witkin, president of the county commissioners, warned yesterday against short-weight frauds.

The Bureau of Weights and Measures, Witkin declared, has received numerous complaints during the last few days, and in the process of re-checking fuel oil amounts has "found several possible shortages."

"We urge the public in purchasing fuel oil to take care and check up on its purchases, particularly if the dealer is unknown to the purchaser, or is selling at unusually low prices," Witkin said.

indicating that scouting has a host of admirers in the community. Paul Forster reported that negotiations for a new camp site in Bucks County were progressing satisfactorily. It was pointed out that the site in mind would be accessible for much more winter camping than has been possible with the present location at Buccoo.

Some communities did not report last evening, although it is known that their work is already under way. The preliminary reports showed the following: Andalusia, $17; Cornwall Heights, $23; Newportville, $5; Tullytown, $30; and Bristol, $169.90.

The team captains and division managers who reported were: Herbert Pettit, Sr., Glenn West, W. W. Woodruff, H. W. The campaign will be finished by October 27th, at which time a victory dinner will be held at the Salem Reformed Church in Doylestown.

Thirty-two members make up this competing organization and they will bring a following of more than 100 people to Bristol with them.

The George N. Althouse Post, No. 39, of Norristown will be the thirteenth unit in line. Their color guard is most striking. Perfect in alignment and appearance, they are the official musical organization of the Phila. Eagles Football team of the National League of Professional Teams, and they have been engaged frequently by both Phila. Major League baseball teams at their opening games for years. This unit will also participate in a Phila. demonstration in the evening and have made special arrangements to be in Bristol in the afternoon.

Capitol View Fire Co., No. 2 of Morrisville will be the fifteenth in the line of parade. There will be 80 members in line with their apparatus and their auxiliary of 50 women. They will bring a musical organization with them.

The Bucks County Rescue Squad will hold the sixteenth position in the line of march.

Entries are still being received daily and the Americanism display promises to be outstanding. Competition is certain to be keen and Bristol is as certain to see the finest parade that has ever been held in this Borough.

Pact To Be Signed By Britain, France and Turkey Today

tions with Turkish Foreign Minister Saracoglu terms which he knew would be unacceptable, thus driving Turkey into British and French arms, for the present at least.

By Kenneth T. Downs
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Despite adverse weather conditions, German infantry detachments were hurled back by French troops at various points along the Western front, the French high command announced today.

The latest French successes were announced in war office communica-

No. 91, which stated:

"The night generally was calm and the weather very rainy. 'Enemy' infantry elements, supported by artillery, were thrown back at a number of points along the front."

Although the communiqué did not say so, it was assumed the latest fighting took place in the Saar region where the Germans have staged their recent major attacks.

The Germans rushed tanks and artillery pieces toward front line positions in the Saar sector as further German attempts to advance broke against terrific French resistance.

A careful check-up revealed that the French lines have not changed materially in the past few days, despite a few local withdrawals to strategic positions.

The German towns of Saarbrücken, Saarlautern, Zweibrücken, Merzig and Bergzabern remain under domination of French heavy artillery, which was fully consolidated behind the French "line of resistance" on German soil during the last days of September.

These artillery emplacements have not changed their positions, the French said, and have played a major role in halting the German assaults.

Junior Women's Clubs Conduct Get-Together

Barley, Frank Murphy, Paul McNutt, Helen Hayes, Ed Wynn, Ruth Bryan Owen, Ethel Barrymore, Lilyan Tashman, Richard Crooks, Dizzy Dean, William Lyons Phelps. He predicted Roosevelt would be the Democratic party's candidate in the next election, and that Arthur Vandenberg would be the most likely Republican nominee.

After the talk by Mr. Duncan, Mrs. Betty Watson introduced Mrs. C. S. Boyer, who talked briefly on organization, calling upon those County Junior chairmen of committees who were present.

A roll call of the clubs of the county showed the following attendance: Bristol, 9; Chalfont, 6; Doylestown, 25; Langhorne, 3; New Hope, 11; Newtown, 18; Perkaskie, 2; Southampton, 13; Yardley, 5; Warrington, 5.

Mrs. C. S. Boyer then called upon the state officer, Mrs. William C. Otter, who gave a short talk on Junior work in the state. She stated every Junior's biggest problem was that of becoming a Senior. She spoke of future meetings of the State Federation for the year, and the speakers for these meetings. After her talk, followed by an open discussion, the meeting was adjourned by a parting word from Mrs. Betty Watson.

RITZ THEATRE

Playing a magician provided Robert Young with the most fun as well as the most problems he has ever faced in a picture role.

So declares the hero of "Miracles for Sale," strange detective mystery played amid a group of magicians and clairvoyants, teeming with illusions and supernatural manifestations, today at the Ritz Theatre.

Directed by Tod Browning, creator of "Dracula" and the Lon Chaney mysteries, with Florence Rice as the heroine, the picture takes the audience back stage among modern miracle workers to follow the train of an uncanny crime.

BRISTOL THEATRE

Fast-talking Lee Tracy has the title role in "The Spellbinder," which opened yesterday at the Bristol Theatre.

The popular star is ideally suited to the part, that of a glib and resourceful criminal attorney with a nationwide reputation for getting his crooked clients out of trouble by courtroom trickery. The only person who doesn't know of his somewhat shady standing is his motherless daughter, who attends an exclusive school, and who thinks her father is the greatest man alive!

ST. ANN'S AND DIAMOND TEAMS IN SCORELESS DEADLOCK

LARGE CROWD OF FANS WATCH TEAMS PLAY UNDER LIGHTS

Each Team To Receive One Point In The County Conference Standing

DIAMOND HAD CHANCE

Fails To Capitalize On A Fumble and Loses Good Chance To Score

Before a large crowd of fans, the St. Ann's A. A. gridsters and the Diamond team, of Andalusia, battled to a scoreless deadlock last night on the Bristol High School field, in the first night game ever played in this section. The game was a Bucks County Conference game and as a result both teams received one point in the standing.

Failing to capitalize on a fumble, the Diamond team "threw away" the only scoring threat of the night. The "break" happened in the final quarter when a St. Ann's back fumbled while hitting the line and the right guard for Diamond, Cunningham recovered on the eighteen yard line.

McFarland gained a few yards on a line thrust but then Big Ewing put all his power behind a cross buck and made a first down on the St. Ann's nine. Here the St. Ann's line showed its mettle. Ewing took another stab at it and was thrown back without a gain. Two passes were attempted and both went for naught. When the third pass was attempted Gullatto and Vanzant broke through and tossed the thrower for a twelve yard loss. Thus ended the only real scoring threat of the night. With six first downs to its credit, the Diamond team outplayed the Purple and Gold. St. Ann's had three first downs. St. Ann's had the edge in but one quarter, the third. Here "Husky" Scott after being trapped behind the line of scrimmage reversed his field and dashed off twelve yards for a first down, the only one St. Ann's made, in the second half. The gain, however, did not materialize into anything as on the next play a St. Ann's back fumbled and Andalusia recovered.

The game started the game in a fast manner and it appeared for a while that the tilt would end up in a high score for both clubs. Immediately after the kickoff, Scarborough and Ewing sacked the St. Ann's line for a first down. But the Saints braced and held for downs, Ewing setting off a nice punt.

It was now St. Ann's turn. Pico on an off tackle play ripped off eight yards and Evans then ploughed through center for a first down. That was all there was to that for the remainder of the session was nothing but a kicker's battle between Evans and Ewing.

Andalusia recovered a St. Ann's fumble in the second quarter and after Ewing helped himself to a first down through the line it was held for downs. The City Line boys again got the ball later on the St. Ann's 30 and again made a first down on two tries with McFarland leading the attack but again St. Ann's held.

The Evans to Louder combination gave the St. Ann's fans their first thrill of the night late in the second half. Standing on his own 30, Evans heaved a long one towards the Diamond goal line. Jackie Louder, St. Ann's wingman gave chase and before being blocked leaped up and speared the ball from the air for a gain of 45 yards. But the half ended before the attack could be continued.

An Andalusia fumble in the third period gave St. Ann's a lift on the invaders' 20 yard line. But four plays netted the Saints only 9 yards and so the ball was lost on downs.

A pass, Ewing to Jungmanns gave the Big Green a 30 yard gain in this same period but another of the same kind was intercepted by Orazi and the aerial attack came to an end.

Ewing and Jungmanns played the best ball for the Andalusia club with Ewing's line bucking and kicking standing out. Gullatto and Vanzant did good line-men's work for St. Ann's with Gullatto breaking up the Andalusia passing attack. Evans did some fine kicking for his night's work.

Andalusia meets Falls Alumnus in a league game at Andalusia Sunday while St. Ann's plays the Langhurs at Aces at Langhorne.

DUSEK IS DOWNED BY VAGNONE IN ARENA

TRENTON, Oct. 19.—Gino Vagnone, red-thatched California Italian, sprung a surprise on the local wrestling fans last night at the Arena by defeating the vaunted Rudy Dusek, roughest of the Omaha rioters, in straight falls.

Vagnone won the first fall after 27 minutes when he punished Dusek with the Indian deathlock. Rudy rebounded off the canvas at least a half dozen times before he finally decided he had enough punishment. The second fall was gained by Vagnone after six minutes when the Italian made Rudy give up with a punishing leg hold.

The match, typical of all encounters where a Dusek is involved, had the fans yelling from the start. Rudy started to rough the Italian early and was the aggressor during most of the bout. Vagnone lay back most of the time but pressed his advantage whenever the opportunity presented itself.

One of the best wrestling matches of the current season was witnessed in the semi-windup. Abe Yonist, popular Hebrew grappler, swapped holds for a half hour with Bobby Managoff, Italian youngster. At the end of the allotted time Referee Doc Gehman raised Managoff's hand in token of
